

Martial Arts for Peace Presents the Complete

Conflict Education Specialist and Behavioral Coach

Character Development - Conflict Education Career Training Program

 Martial Arts Educators for Peace *****

Specializing in Bully Prevention

What Is the General Intent?

To provide a Conflict Education Specialist and Behavioral Coach* career certification program where participants will develop the ability to teach Character Development –Conflict Education Skills that helps young people to:

- Learn how to resolve conflict peacefully
- Develop excellent character-development skills
- Reduce stress by providing positive outlets
- Understand the importance of healthy living
- Train in a safe environment to protect themselves
- Learn a comprehensive Life Skills Program
- Recognize the value of community service
 - Improve academic performance

Why is it important to have a character development program for young people?

In our fast pace, high stress competitive world young people need a safe place where they can have the leisure to explore themselves and the world around them.

The intent of conventional education is to teach academic skills to prepare young people vocationally. But young people also need a host of day-to-day life skills other than academics to be able to successfully cope with the challenges of living. In an atmosphere of friendship young people need to be allowed to inquire into the essential questions of what it means to live with intelligence, to create healthy guidelines for their behavior and to be able to understand and resolve conflict peacefully. Such is the intent of the MAP S.T.A.R.S. Program.

How is the MAP S.T.A.R.S. Conflict Education Bully Program different from other bully programs?

There is current significant evidence from the Centre for Infant Cognition at the University of British Columbia that states episodes of bullying that mar early grade school years for hundreds of children may be a partial result of the victim's DNA.

The study shows that behaviors that most often lead to exclusion and victimization in the classroom or schoolyard have their roots in a student's genes arguing that children's genetic makeup has a direct impact on the quality of the interactions they enjoy with their peers. The study also shows infants learn social stratification as early as nine months. Since according to the study children are genetically programmed to bully, bullying programs now need to address this inborn root cause of conflict by providing innovative environments to prevent this individual and social disorder from occurring.

The MAP S.T.A.R.S. Conflict Education Bully Program mainly focuses on the prevention of conflict by understanding its genetic root causes.

The MAP S.T.A.R.S. Conflict Education Bully Program also differs from other conflict education/bullying programs is that it is a complete program that teaches young people how to prevent, resolve and manage conflict whereas most conflict education/bullying program focus superficially on the tertiary or management level after a conflict has already occurred.

What occupations would benefit using the MAP S.T.A.R.S Character Development and Conflict Education Bully Program?

After School Program Coordinator

Work in a setting that provides young people with conflict education/character development life skills after school. This could come under a martial arts school's outreach program.

Community Center Employee

One could initiate and run a number of these programs in this type of facility. In this way one doesn't need the financial or marketing skills necessary to operate the program as they would if one opened for example, an independent facility of their own. For some people this is a better option in that they have less responsibility in the administration of the program and therefore will have more time available to teach.

Counselor

The skills offered in the MAP S.T.A.R.S. program have been used successfully by counselors in helping young people to better cope with being bullied by offering them the social and emotional support to necessary to build self-confidence and self-control.

School Teacher

Many of the MAP S.T.A.R.S. skills can be naturally incorporated into the classroom curriculum as a part of the overall child's education. A subject area such as Social Studies is a perfect opportunity to offer these services to better assist in the whole development of the child, individually and socially.

Workshop Presenter/Trainer

There is a career opportunity in being a Workshop Presenter/Trainer where one is paid to present this program to educators, counselors, school administrators, law enforcement, business personnel and the like who are interested in implementing these skills into their occupational environments

Summer Camp Director /Employee

Summer time is an especially good occasion to do this program for parents are looking for a comprehensive program that can be taught each day over an extended period of time. This affords one the luxury to go into depth into the more complex issues of character development and conflict education in a cohesive developmental process with little interruption of the learning process. This allows for a better retention for the young person's natural educational progression.

Entrepreneur

The MAP S.T.A.R.S. program can be offered as a business potential in specialized centers created with the intent to offer these skills to young people independent of their schools. There is also the possibility to create multiple centers as Licensed Membership schools similar to Franchises.

Martial Arts School Instructors

The MAP S.T.A.R.S. program components are ideal for a martial arts school. They have been used in hundreds of martial arts schools internationally due to the efforts of Dr. Terrence Webster-Doyle in developing his Martial Arts for Peace Program.

The following are particularly noteworthy ➡

At Risk Youth Counselor

The specially designed MAP S.T.A.R.S. At Risk bullying program has been used with troubled youth nationally and internationally with much success. This unique program is specially designed to more accurately meet the needs of these special youth. It includes teaching specific child safe mental and physical skills within a safe and controlled environment to educate young people in the awareness, resolution, and management of conflict through nonviolent means so they can experience a reduction in emotional and physical impulsivity. The fundamental intent of this program is to stop conflict at the primary prevention level but also at the secondary and tertiary level, and to learn from youth who are at risk as well as identified as problematic behaviorally.

School Violence Consultant

The MAP S.T.A.R.S. Program has also been designed to address extreme school violence such as the killings at many schools in the U.S. such as Columbine, Colorado and Sandy Hook, Connecticut in that it creates a safe and controlled environment to explore the nature and structure of violence residing genetically in the primitive biological brain. The intent is to create the right conditions to by-pass this built-in instinctive maladjusted survival reaction thus creating an epigenetic response that can circumvent it.

Children of War Specialist

This program has been used successfully with over 5000 Liberian children of war since 2003. The first curriculum used for these war torn children in Liberia by the Liberian peace educator Dr. Marvin Davis was Why Is Everybody Always Picking On Us? Understanding the Roots of Prejudice, which generated the internationally claimed book Brave New Child - Liberating the Children of Liberia and the World.

Conflict Education

Please note: all the components of the programs below are taught in a multilevel context of role-playing, games, and other educational activities that developmentally enhances the child's ability to comprehend the information in a more multifaceted manner thus increasing the potential for learning. The proper amount of time needs to be given to teach the components of the program. The minimum amount of time per week should be 2 hours. It is obviously better to have more time thus teaching the components of the program are best taught during a holiday or summer time. In other words it is essential that a continuity be developed consistently over time for young people to grasp the essential insights in the program without undo interruption.)

Conflict Education

The Conflict Education Component*

The approach is a holistic three-level system called The ABC of Conflict Education™. The three levels are: Avoid - Bargain - Control. Each level helps young people keep from being bullied in the following ways:

Avoid

By understanding what causes people to bully in the way they have been genetically and socially conditioned to think and act either as a bully or a victim, a young person can prevent conflict from arising.

Bargain

Through the use of verbal Mental Self-Defense Skills, a young person can learn to use words instead of fists to resolve a bullying situation.

Control

A young person who learns how to handle hurt feelings in a positive way is less likely to react in overly aggressive manner when hassled by a bully, and more likely to maintain control. It also helps them to control a potential conflict situation by having the confidence gained through learning humane self-defense skills so they don't react unnecessarily in a freeze/fight or flight manner. Developing one's level of understanding, learning verbal mental self-defense skills, becoming wise in ways to handle hurt feelings all lead to an increase in self-confidence in tough situations and learning to think quickly and efficiently when necessary.

Rights and Responsibilities For a Bully Free Society

I have the right to not be bullied or physically hurt and the responsibility to learn ways of resolving conflict peacefully.

I have the right to not be called hurtful names and the responsibility to understand what would make me want to call others hurtful names.

I have the right to not be picked on because I do not belong to a certain group and the responsibility to understand what it means to belong to a "group."

I have the right to not be made fun of because I am "different" and the responsibility not to pick on others for what I have been taught to think are differences.

I have the right to not be bullied because of race, gender, sexual orientation or culture and the responsibility to educate myself about why this happens.

I have the right to not be bullied because of my physical appearance and the responsibility to not pick on myself for what I think others may think of me.

I have a right to not be teased because I am not as smart as other people and the responsibility to educate myself to be as intelligent as I can be.

Learn more

I have a right to not be bullied because I am not as athletic as others and the responsibility to find other endeavors that give me a sense of well being.

I have the right not to be bullied because I am smaller or weaker and the responsibility to find ways that will strengthen me.

I have the right to learn the skills to understand and handle bullies without hurting or being hurt and the responsibility to teach others these skills so they will not get bullied.

I have the right to protect myself from harm and the responsibility to use these skills humanely.

Every child everywhere has a basic right to be treated with respect and the responsibility in turn to respect all others.

Advanced Level Conflict Education Program

Ten Stages of Bullying - From the Playground to the Battlefield

1. Why Do We Bully?

When we can understand the causes of bullying - that is rooted in the way we think- we can prevent it.

2. Why Is Everybody Always Picking On Me?

When a bully finds a victim to torment, there are always reasons. A victim benefits from knowing the answer to this question and to how a bully thinks.

3. Why Am I Always Picking on Myself?

Each of us has an "inner bully" - an inner voice that nags us, intimidates us. This is where bullying continues after one has been personally picked on by another person.

4. Why Can't I Do What I Want?

Young people need to learn that for every right there is a corresponding responsibility. Learning this makes for a balanced frame of mind in one's relationship to others and the world.

5. Why Is Everybody Always Picking On Us?

When we learn to hate and fear because someone else is different then we are caught in prejudice. Whether it is the color of one's skin, nationality, age, disability, gender or religion it only creates pain and suffering.

6. Why Are We Always Letting the Bullies Pick On Them?

Bystanders often don't want to stop a bully situation. Many times they encourage it. But a peacefully skilled bystander can be powerful and resourceful in stopping a bullying incident.

7. Why Are They Always Getting Picked On?

Youth-at-risk are bullied by fellow youth and by adults. Understanding how and why they are picked on - by the youth themselves as well as by parents and teachers - can lead to helping these young people lead more healthy lives.

8. Why Are We Always Picking On Each Other?

Wars break out because one group of people bullies another. It is vitally important to understand how and where this bullying begins in childhood so that young people can begin to end it on the playground before it gets to the battlefield.

9. Are We Hardwired for War?

Is it possible that what is inciting people to be in conflict, mainly collective conflict between groups of people who physically attack each other, a genetically generated misplaced instinct for survival?

10. Are We Born to Bully?

"Most honest combat vets will tel/you, perhaps not eloquently but in their own way, the same thing: essentially that combat is in our human DNA and demands to be exercised The question is, can we humans evolve peacefully, or will we succumb to instincts we can't transcend?"

- “Why is Everybody Always Picking on Us?” explores the roots of prejudice. I don’t think I’ve seen another book like it. How wonderful if this book could be used in social studies classrooms! I have learned where prejudice begins, how it is created, how it is perpetuated, and how it can be resolved. This book looks at stereotypes, bigotry, discrimination, scapegoating, racism, and more. It is a wonderfully comprehensive manual for young people and adults alike on understanding our conditioning and the root of prejudice.” American Pride Through Education.

Morgan Becker, Head Instructor Ho Ban (Lake House) Tang Soo Do Dojang San Antonio, Florida, USA
- “Webster-Doyle’s insight is that by recognizing, understanding, and accepting our violent tendencies, we can avoid acting them out. These new books ... are good for teachers and parents of elementary school children who need appropriate language and activities to help children deal with their feelings and the violence-provoking parts of the environment. To this reviewer, they are realistic and practical.” - Young Children (Magazine of the National Association for the Education of Young Children)
